

Dear Reader,

Why are you receiving this newsletter? Maybe you're a ContractExpress customer (does DealBuilder or NDAexpress sound familiar?) Or perhaps our sales people are courting you, successfully I hope. Or, you just may be the winner of our kindle fire drawing from the ACC annual meeting in Denver.

On behalf of the ContractExpress family, I would like to wish your family a happy and healthy holiday season. Read on to see what we've been up to this month.

Regards,

Anatoly Soyfer - Editor

ACC Annual Meeting kindle fire draw...And the Winner Is

On October 23rd, the ContractExpress team headed over to the ACC Annual Meeting in Denver to find out how many general counsel really know what contract automation is and how many use it in their departments.

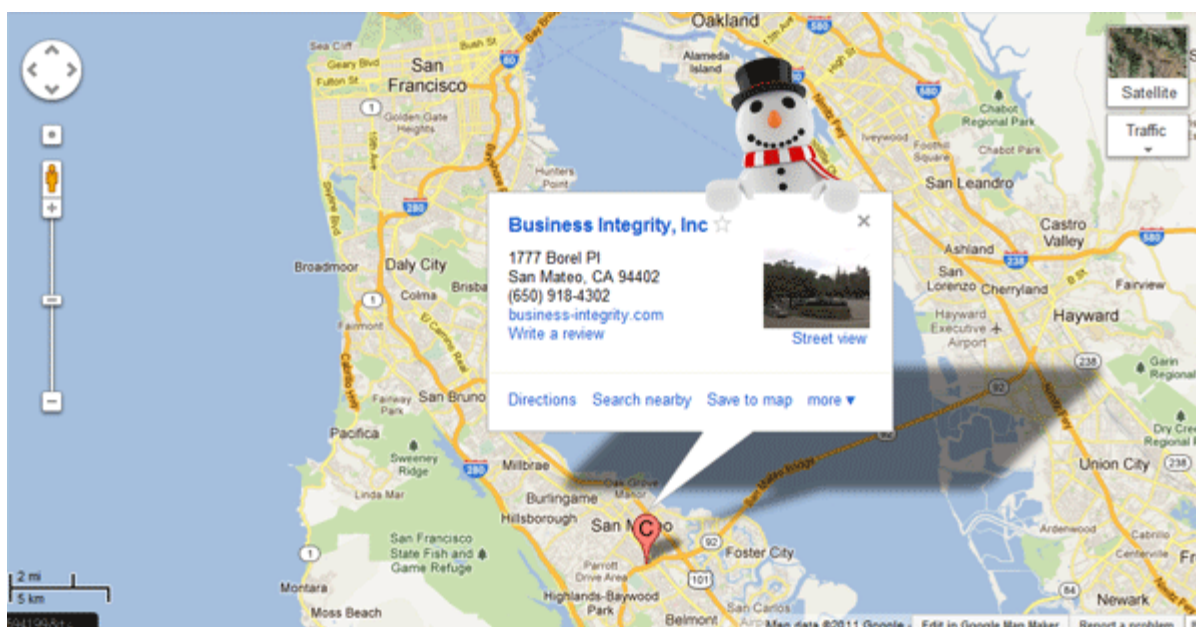

To date we have collected over 450 responses. A majority came from the ACC annual meeting in Denver where we entered everyone that filled out a survey into a drawing for the Amazon kindle fire. To see if you're the winner, watch the video above.

Want to participate and give us your take? Complete the online version to receive the results once they are published. (If you've already participated online, via phone, or at the ACC meeting, you're all set)

IBA Annual Conference / Bay Area ACC "Deal or no Deal"

Thanks to everyone that stopped by our booth at the International Bar Association annual meeting in Dubai, and at the Deal or No Deal ACC event in the Bay Area in November. Congrats again to our kindle fire winner!

It's not too late to join in on the fun. If you are a corporate counsel, please complete our online survey on contract management and automation. If you work for a law firm, we don't have a survey for you at this moment but you can still receive an Ipad 2 if you sign up to one year of ContractExpress.com and use code BI 2011 (We could make it a kindle fire if you like)
